MILWAUKEE

→ HOG HEAVEN

It's not exactly "Hotel Harley," but when The Iron Horse Hotel opens this month, motorcycle enthusiasts will have an upscale boutique inn to call their own. The Iron Horse is located in a restored turn-of-the-century brick building in the heart of Milwaukee and is a short walk from the new Harley-Davidson Museum, also scheduled to open this month.

Owner Tim Dixon assures guests that The Iron Horse is not a theme hotel, but it does offer amenities specifically geared toward bike aficionados. In addition to extras like iPod docking stations, flat-screen TVs, spa services, and whirlpool baths, all rooms have tile entrances with boot benches, storage for helmets, and cast-iron coat hooks that can support the weight of 60-pound leathers. Smyth restaurant serves stylish versions of comfort foods, including one great American classic with a dash of attitude — Truffled Mac and Cheese.

Bikes also get five-star treatment at The Iron Horse. There's covered parking and an on-site bike wash. Check out theironhorsehotel.com.

READY TO RIDE

Beginning July 12 in Milwaukee, bikers and wannabes alike can immerse themselves in the new Harley-Davidson Museum. The huge glass and galvanized steel building houses exhibits focused on the people, culture, and history of the legendary bike maker. Among them is the Captain America, an exact replica of the bike from Easy Rider. For more info, visit h-dmuseum.com.
